What is the UPSC CSE Exam and How to Become an IAS?

The UPSC Civil Services Examination (CSE) is a nationwide exam that recruits candidates for top government positions, including the Indian Administrative Service (IAS), Indian Police Service (IPS), and Indian Foreign Service (IFS). The exam is divided into three main stages:

1. Preliminary Exam (Prelims): A screening test that includes multiple-choice questions (MCQs) on General Studies and an aptitude test (CSAT).
2. Main Exam (Mains): A descriptive paper covering a wide range of subjects, including General Studies, Essays, and Optional Subjects.
3. Interview (Personality Test): A final stage where candidates are assessed on their personality, general knowledge, and ability to handle stress.

Each stage of the UPSC exam requires a focused strategy, and Mukherjee Nagar, Delhi, has long been considered the hub for top UPSC coaching in India, especially for aspirants across the country.

Pattern and Stages of IAS Exam

Understanding the structure of the IAS exam is crucial for effective preparation. Hereâ??s a breakdown of the exam stages:
