Prelims, Mains & Interview: Course Breakdown

The UPSC exam is conducted in three stages: Prelims, Mains, and Interview. Each stage requires focused preparation and specific strategies. Understanding the course duration for each of these stages is crucial.

1. Prelims: The first stage of the UPSC exam is the Preliminary examination, which consists of two objective-type papers: General Studies (Paper I) and Civil Services Aptitude Test (CSAT) (Paper II). Prelims is an elimination stage, meaning only those who qualify can appear for Mains. The preparation for Prelims typically takes around six months to a year, depending on your knowledge and skills.

2. Mains: The Mains exam is more comprehensive and includes nine papers, including Essay writing, General Studies, Compulsory papers, and an Optional Subject. The preparation for Mains often requires an additional six to nine months after clearing the Prelims. This is the stage where most candidates spend a significant amount of their time studying and writing mock exams.

3. Interview: After qualifying for Mains, candidates are called for the final stage: the Interview or the Personality Test. While this stage does not require as much time as Prelims and Mains, it is crucial for securing a high rank. Most coaching institutes provide special guidance and mock interviews to help aspirants prepare for this stage.

- Set aside time for self-study after classes.
- Review your notes and revise regularly.
- Practice writing answers and solve mock tests.
- Stay updated with current affairs.

In this way, coaching and self-study complement each other.
